

Festival of Voices Coastal coming to Bicheno

Ben Salter is one of Australia's most highly regarded performers and songwriters.

As well as being a founding member of Giants of Science, The Gin Club and the two time ARIA nominated Wilson Pickers, he is an accomplished artist in his own right.

His debut solo album "The Cat" established his penchant for the melodic mixed with the esoteric, whilst follow up EP "European Vacation" was a diverse collection of collaborations that Salter undertook whilst on a five month overseas writing mission.

He has collaborated, written and performed with artists as diverse as Mick Thomas (Weddings, Parties, Anything), Tim Rogers (You Am I, The Temperance Union), Bernard Fanning (Powderfinger) and the aforementioned Gareth Liddiard (The Drones), to name a few.

Tasmanian based funk rock band The Surreal Estate Agents have been satisfying audiences with their dynamic musical arrangements since 2014 with an energetic and playful stage presence.

Singer/songwriters Zac Henderson and Jackson Simpson front the band with intricate guitar and poetic lyrics partnered with catchy melody and harmony. Tenille Johnstone plays the drums with great dynamic in her own unique style which combines well with bassist, Thomas Newman who brings the heart of funk to this band. These young and hardworking independent artists shows no sign of slowing down. They have performed at Tasmania's best clubs, pubs and festivals including The Falls Festival, Party in the Paddock, Forth Valley Blues Festival and toured Australia throughout 2016.

In February of 2017 the band launched their debut album titled 'House Inspection'. An album which is an excellent example of the mixed genres and energy the band possesses. With such a vast array of influences The Surreal Estate Agents are full of suspires, combining elements of rock, blues, folk and funk topped off with thought-provoking lyrics.
